Blitzkrieg	The German campaign in France during the summer of 1940 was pivotal to Hitler's ambitions and fundamentally affected the course of the Second World War. Having squabbled about fighting methods right up to the start of the campaign, the German forces provided the Fuhrer with a swift, efficient and decisive military victory over the Allied forces.	Lloyd Clark	WW 2
Blood and Water	The story of how a desperate clandestine mission in Norway ended the Nazi dream of building the atomic bomb.	Dan Kurzman	WW 2
Blood, Sweat and Tears	This book is a compilation of Margaret Geddes' interviews with ordinary Australians who did extraordinary things during World War II. From the campaigns in Europe and Africa, the prison camps of South-East Asia and the notorious Burma Railway, to those who kept the home fires burning, this is a remarkable portrait of Australians at war.	Margerat Geddes	WW 2
Bloodhunt	As a former soldier, Gordon Reeve knows something about killing. So despite the fact that the death of his brother Jim has been ruled a suicide, Gordon can't shake the feeling that someone is responsible.	Ian Rankin
Bloodstained Wattle	Historical fiction novel set in the tropical North of Australia against the backdrop of the second World War.	Maria Gardner	WW 2
Bloody Buna	In 1942 the Australian 16th and 25th AIF Brigades, supported by militia men of the 3rd Battalion, forced the Japanese back over the Kokoda Trail and into a narrow strip in the Buna-Gona-Sanananda area along the northern New Guinea coast. It was decided the Australians would clear the Gona-Sanananda area; the Americans would attack Buna.	Lido Mayo	WW 2
Bloody Lucky	An amazing and enthralling story of survival. From a harsh childhood through the brutalities of the Japanese in Changi, the Burma Railway, Saigon, and the coal mines of Japan. It is remarkable that he survived any of the hazardous and dangerous episodes. He did, and now he is a tower of strength in his country community.	Jack Thorpe	WW 2
Blue Lanyard Red Banner	In January 1966 the US 173rd Airborne Brigade included the 1st Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment. The brigade intended to surround and destroy the Vietcong Headquarters for the Saigon region, but by the fortunes of war the Aussies landed almost on top of the enemy headquarters, which was in an extensive tunnel network, the size and scope of which had not been found previously.	Lex McAulay	WW 2
Boldness Be My Friend	Shot down over Berlin in 1941, Richard Pape's saga of captivity is a story of courage unmatched in the annals of escape. Four escapes took him across the breadth of German-occupied Europe; to Poland and Czechoslovakia; to Austria and Hungary. Aggressive and impetuous, his adventures sweep the reader along on a torrent of excitement.	Richard Pape	WW 2
Bomber Command WW2	Bomber Command's air offensive against the cities of Nazi Germany was one of the most epic campaigns of World War II. More than 56,000 British and Commonwealth aircrew and 600,000 Germans died in the course of the RAF's attempt to win the war by bombing.	Max Hastings	WW 2

From Here to Eternity	Set in 1941, the novel focuses on several members of a U.S. Army infantry company stationed in Hawaii in the months leading up to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. It is loosely based on Jones' experiences in the pre-World War II Hawaiian Division's 27th Infantry and the unit in which he served, Company E ("The Boxing Company"). Fellow company member Hal Gould said that while the novel was based on the company, including some depictions of actual persons, the characters are fictional, and the harsh conditions and described events are inventions.	James Jones	WW 2

German Secret Weapons of WW 2	Hitler's regime was notorious for its many experiments and its various secret ploys, weapons, and technological developments. But typically, the term "secret German weapons" only turns up images of the V-1 and V-2 missiles that played a part in bombing London in 1944. But truth be told, there were many more unheard of weapons behind the Third Reich. Many of these weapons have been unknown to the general public.	Ian V. Hogg	WW 2
German War machine	The forces that Hitler unleashed in 1939 failed to achieve their aim, although they constituted the most formidable war machine the world had ever known. This book describes the impact of those forces and why they failed. Hitler waged war not only with military might but with economic measures, with propaganda, with coercion, with technology and with political skill. But the most deadly aspect of his armoury was his own mesmeric personality and he made the fullest use of that weapon to revitalise the German people and to urge them forward against the enemies of the Reich.	Ure Smith	WW 2

Soldiers of the Sea: The United States Marine Corps, 1775-1962	Marines have fought in all the nation's wars. Their readiness and prompt action at Harper's Ferry stopped John Brown's insurrection in its tracks. In 1917, as the "First to Fight" slogan demonstrated its electric effect, the 5th Marines sailed for France and joined up with the first convoy at sea, anxious to get on with the war. With courage, discipline, and typical small-unit initiative, the Marines triumphed at Belleau Wood, a victory that was to advantageously affect the quality and thinking of the Marine Corps ever after.	Robert Debs Heintl

The One That Got Away	The British Army's Special Air Service is one of the world's premier special operations units. During the Gulf War, deep behind Iraqi lines, an SAS team was compromised. A fierce firefight ensued, and the eight men were forced to run for their lives. Only one, Chris Ryan, escaped capture or death, and he did it by walking nearly 180 miles through the desert for seven days and eight nights. This story features extraordinary courage under fire, narrow escapes, a battle against the most adverse physical conditions, and, above all, of one man's courageous refusal to lie down and die.	Chris Ryan	Gulf
The Only War We Got	of ragtime Gotterdammerung, the American napalm-and-coke crusade to confer the blessings of freedom upon the loathed Gooks is viewed in bizarre codas.	Derick Maitland	Vietnam
The Open Cage: The Ordeal Of The Irian Jaya Hostages	While making a study of the flora and fauna of Irian Jaya in Papua New Guinea, four young British scientists were captured by the primitive tribespeople and held hostage for months. Spirited away within the "sacred" forest, forced to scavenge for food and live, in a way they had never dreamt of, like the native people, they were constantly under threat for their lives. Their eventual release was bittersweet.	D. Start
The Order of the Death's Head: The Story of Hitler's SS	The SS was the terror of Europe. The Raiders Desert Strike Force	"Victory in the desert took three years, many battles, and much sacrifice; of the formations engaged, the desert raiders of the LRDG and SAS formed numerically a minute part. But it is true to say that without their efforts victory would have come later, and at far greater cost.	Arthur Swinson	WW 2
The Reason Why	This history is a war story of astonishing courage and honor, of stupidity, of blood, death, agony -- and waste. Nothing in British campaign history has ever equaled the tragic farce that was the charge of the Light Brigade during the Crimean War's Battle of Balaclava on October 25, 1854.	Cecil Woodham-Smith	Crimean
The Red Berets	The Story of the Parachute Regiment at War 1940-45	Hilary St George Saunders

Title	Description	Author	Conflict
The Red Devils: From Bruneval to the Falklands	glider the men of the Airborne Forces have gone by air to battle. But their activities have by no means been confined to purely airborne operations-the Special Air Service performed prodigies of valor behind the German Lines in the Western Desert and Italy; the Glider Pilot Regiment fought beside their infantry comrades in Normandy, at Arnhem and across the Rhine.	G. G. Norton	WW2
The Repat Racket	Over a thirty year period, the author has watched a combination of badly-drafted legislation, irresponsible court decisions and political cowardice turn the Department of Veteran's Affairs into a monster. To read this book is to walk through Alice's looking glass into a world where normal reality is inverted, creating a surreal world.	Malcolm Smith

The Sands of Dunkirk	For the first time we have a Dunkirk narrative based not on military history but on personal experience. Richard Collier's stark, brutally honest report of what it was like to be there!	Richard Collier	WW2
The Sands Of Valour	The North African campaign involved Germans, Englishmen, Italians, the French and, eventually, Americans. The story here takes place before the U.S. entered WWII. It's a long, sometimes turgidly detailed, novel about a British tank unit, especially about the courage and crack-ups of its officers.	Geoffrey Wagner	WW2
The Scourge of the Swastika: A History of Nazi War Crimes During World War II	modern histories have focused on the Holocaust. While the Final Solution was a unique and unparalleled horror, German atrocities did not end there. The Nazis terrorized their own citizens, tortured and murdered POWs, and carried out countless executions throughout occupied Europe. Lord Russell of Liverpool was part of the legal team that brought Nazi war criminals to justice, and from this first-hand position, he published the sensational, bestselling The Scourge of the Swastika in 1954. Liverpool shows that the actions of the Third Reich, including the Holocaust, were illegal, not merely immoral.	Lord Russell of Liverpool	WW2
The Sea Break	Lieutenant Commander Widmark had truly earned his nickname "The Butcher" in mediterranean waters. He derided the Geneva Convention and the pusillanimity that sometimes delayed action against the enemy for diplomatic reasons.	Antony Trew	WW2
The Sea Chase	This tells of the elusive trip of a freighter from Australia to friendly, Nazi waters which draws on her Kapitan Erlich for all his hardwon knowledge of the tropics, the Arctic, and the vision of a victorious Germany.	Andrew Geer	WW2

The Sharp End Of War	In any army, it is only a minority of men who end up as combat soldiers, at the "sharp end" where they have to shoot and be shot at, but it is their experiences that are the most intense and reveal most directly what war is actually like.	John Ellis
The Ship that Died of Shame	Canada. The title story takes us on board a small gunboat with a distinguished WW II record; the shame is that it is being used as a smuggler.	Nicholas Monsarrat	WW2
The Shooting Gallery	A story about British foreign policy, and the secret war which has been waged against foreign threats to the British and their allies. Written by a former senior NCO of the SAS, the book describes operations never before discussed, in locations all over the world.	Gaz Hunter
The Siege Of Leningrad 1941-1944. 900 Days Of Terror	The full story of the most terrible siege in history when over a million people perished, illustrated by pictures recently released from Russian archives. Leningrad (now reverted to its pre-1914 name of St Petersburg) was surrounded by German forces in 1941 and cut off from the rest of Russia. It was besieged for nearly three years, the great city's population suffering terribly in the bitter cold of the Russian winter. Over a million men, women and children died of starvation and hypothermia, but the city fought on and never surrendered. In 1943 the Russian army broke through to link up with the garrison and end the longest, bloodiest siege of the Second World War.	David M Glantz	WW2
The Silent Men	Who are 'the silent men'? The Sixth Of June	World War II was more than a historical event; it was a deeply personal, emotional experience for all who lived through it overseas and at home. This novel whirls the reader back to that time and that experience-to the fevered years in America, to blitz-torn London, to the beauty, love, and mounting terror that marked the progression of the war to its magnificent climax, the D-day assault on THE SIXTH OF JUNE.	Lionel Shapiro	WW2
The Sixth Year of the War in Pictures	The sixth year of World War 2 as depicted in pictures by the Sun News Pictorial	Sun News Pictorial	WW2
The Sky: Our Country	This book commemorates the 25th anniversary of the Republic of Singapore Air Force (RSAF). It pays tribute to the RSAF as it recounts its missions and achievements.	Republic of Singapore Air Force
The Sledge Patrol	In 1943, a group of brave Danish and Norwegian hunters carried out one of the most dramatic operations of World War II. Using dogsleds to patrol a stark 500-mile stretch of the Greenland coast, their wartime mission was to guard against Nazi interlopers - an unlikely scenario given the cruel climate.	David Armine Howarth	WW2
The Soldier of Fortune	Describes the world of the professional soldier--who he is, what he does, where he finds work, and the weapons, tactics, and equipment he uses.	Robert L Pigeon
The Soldier's Story	Controversial reconstruction of the battle at Xa Long Tan by a Vietnam War veteran who took part in the fight. Includes the sequel volume, 'A Soldier Returns' telling of his return to the battlefield 25 years later.	Terry Burstall	Vietnam
The Soldiers' War: The Great War Through Veterans' Eyes	The Soldier's War traces the war chronologically, taking stories from each year of the fighting and following the British Tommy through devastating battles and trench warfare to the armistice in 1918. The book also reflects on other lesser-known and more personal aspects of the war, such as the work of stretcher-bearers, army chaplains, and burial parties.	Robert Van Emden	WW1
The Somme: The Darkest Hour on the Western Front	supposed to bring an end to the horrific stalemate on the Western Front between British, French and German forces. What resulted was one of the greatest single human catastrophes in twentieth century warfare: scrambling out of trenches in the face of German machine guns and artillery fire, the British lost over twenty thousand soldiers during the first day. This "battle" would drag on for another four bloody months. Expertly weaving together letters, diaries, and other first-person accounts, Peter Hart gives us a compelling narrative tribute to this infamous tragedy that epitomized the futility of "the war to end all wars."	Peter Hart	WW1
The South East Pacific 1941-45	Keogh began his military career in 1916 as a driver in the 1st Aust Wireless Squadron. Commissioned into the 24th Battalion in 1924. During World War Two he had various staff appointments in Middle East and South West Pacific.	E. G. Keogh	WW2

The Story of the Seventeenth Battalion A.I.F. In the Great War 1914-1918	deaths and casualties. From a population of fewer than five million, 416,809 men enlisted, of which over 60,000 were killed and 156,000 wounded, gassed, or taken prisoner. 'In general terms with Australian unit histories the quality of authorship is very good, most of them share the common strength of making plentiful mention of the individual officers and men who served, fought, died, was wounded, or taken prisoner, or who came safely home at the end of it all. They are a prime source for genealogists and military historians.'	M.C. K. W. Mackenzie	WW 1
The Struggle for Europe	An historical classic provides an eyewitness account of the strategies, triumphs, and defeats of the Western Allies and the role of the Russians during the closing years of the war.	Chester Wilmot	WW 2
The Struggle for Power : What We Haven't Been Told and Why!	demands for immediate and drastic action on carbon emissions is very far from settled, the burning question shifts from the science to the reasons why so much unsettled science has been taken so seriously by so many people. Some clues can be found in a study of the methods which were used to kill nuclear power in Australia. These were documented by the late John Grover.	John Grover

The Vung Tau Ferry: HMAS Sydney and Escort Ships - Vietnam 1965-1972	The purpose of this book is to recognise the major contribution of those many members of the Royal Australian Navy whose dedicated service in the Vietnam war was for so long ignored.	Rodney Nott & Noel Payne	Vietnam
The WAAAF Book	The WAAAF book shows the sex discrimination of the times in rates of pay and allowances, and in the hostility of some male officers to women holding status. It also shows the wonderful sense of freedom and achievement, and the comradeship that the WAAAF's experienced.	Clare Stevenson
The WAAAF in Wartime Australia	Working in areas as diverse as intelligence and chemical warfare research, the 27,000 women who served in the Women's Auxiliary Australian Air Force changed the role of women in wartime.	Joyce Thomson
The Wandering Years	The autobiography of one of Australia's greatest aviation pioneers. From flying with the RAAF to his involvement with the Flying Doctors and QANTAS, his World War 2 exploits, his hair raising adventures in PNG and his long involvement with the Department of Civil Aviation, this journey is full of adventures and near disasters.	Arthur H. Affleck	WW2
The war at home: Australia 1939-1949	Based on interviews collected for the ABC radio program 'The Home Front'. Slessor was Australia's Official War Correspondent in WWII. He was in the UK in 1940, in the Middle East, 1941-1942, and the South West Pacific, 1943-1944. He witnessed the Greek and Crete Campaigns and also the battles in Syria and North Africa including El Alamein. In 1944 he resigned in a cloud of controversy. His detailed and graphic war diaries of Australian military activity give a vivid view of the war.	Daniel Connell	WW2
The War Diaries of Kenneth Slessor	This extraordinary first-hand account of Sir Edward 'Weary' Dunlop's experiences as senior medical officer in the infamous prisoner-of-war camps in Java and on the Burma-Thailand Railway, is not only an account of great historical significance but also a testament to the ability of the human spirit to overcome the most unbearably cruel conditions.	Clement Semmler	WW2
The War Diaries of Weary Dunlop	The War Illustrated was a British war magazine published in London by William Berry It was first released on 22 August 1914, eighteen days after the United Kingdom declared war on Germany, and regular issues continued throughout the First World War. Each issue looked at what happened during each week of World War 1.	E. E. Dunlop	WW2
The War Illustrated 127 Issues	The largest battles of World War I were fought in Europe, and it is there where most critical studies focus. The fate of the far-flung colonies of Germany, however, are what gave the war its global scope, with campaigns reaching from China to New Guinea and East to West Africa. While there are detailed accounts of most of these campaigns, The War in Africa and the Far East, 1914-17 is unique in providing a concise history of the entire series of military events in Africa and Asia, giving the reader a better idea of the relationship and chronology of these wide-ranging events. While Germany was stripped of all its overseas colonies, the change in power had unintended consequences, most importantly the rise of Japan in the Pacific, where former German colonies now stood at the territorial boundary between Japan and the United States.	William Berry	WW 1
The War in Africa and the Far East, 1914-17	The setting is in the deserts of Libya and Egypt during World War II.	Herbert Charles O'Neill	WW 1
The War In The Desert	Biographical studies of Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, Hitler, and Mussolini portray them as exercising supreme command during World War II and a sixth sketch shows absence of such a figure in Japan.	Richard Collier	WW2
The War Lords	Jasper Maskelyne was a world famous magician and illusionist in the 1930s. When war broke out, he volunteered his services to the British Army and was sent to Egypt where the desert war had just begun. He used his skills to save the vital port of Alexandria from German bombers and to 'hide' the Suez Canal from them.	A.J.P. Taylor	WW2
The War Magician	Only three short years after the end of the Japanese occupation, war came again to Malaya. The Chinese-backed guerillas called it the War of the Running Dogs - their contemptuous term for those in Malaya who remained loyal to the British.	David Fisher	WW2
The War of the Running Dogs	Illustrates the new weapons of war and how they forever transformed the way war was fought. Follows the course of the war from the assassination that triggered it to the armistice that brought it to an end. From the fall of great powers to the rise of new nations.	Noel Barber	WW2
The War to End Wars 1914-18	It's 1914 and the great powers of Europe are on the brink of war. In Holbeck, Leeds, the Keeton family struggles to get by on their meagre wages. The six Keeton brothers couldn't be more different, but the outbreak of World War I puts their lives on hold and sets them on a course of destruction. Leo Tolstoy
War & Remembrance	The Winds of War covers the period 1939 to 1941, and War and Remembrance continues the story of the extended Henry family and the Jastrow family starting on 15 December 1941 and ending on 6 August 1945.	Herman Wouk	WW2
War Against Japan 1941-42	When Japan made it vicious thrust for power in 1941 and 1942, Australian troops were in Malaya and Singapore, and scattered about the island of New Guinea and the Netherlands East Indies. It was a terrifying time for all Australians as their front-line soldiers staggered in the tropical battlegrounds of South-East Asia, overrun by vastly superior forces and forced into a humiliating surrender. The war was approaching Australia's doorstep, but as Japan beats it way through the New Guinea jungle to Kokoda, the Diggers grimly held on against all odds. Finally they inflicted a crushing defeat on Japanese land forces at Milne Bay, which together with crucial Allied naval victories began to turn the enemy back. War against Japan 1941-1942 is the dramatic story of Australia's gravest hours, as its heroic soldiers faced the tragedies and triumphs of a shocking war.	Peter Charlton	WW2
War Against Japan 1942-45	This is the second volume, covering Australian Army operations in the Pacific theatre during World War Two.	Peter Charlton	WW2
